

Civil Service Pension Scheme

Notes for the member

Application for an ill health retirement assessment (IHR2 - partnership)

The IHR2 form is an application for an ill health retirement assessment to be carried out by the Civil Service Pension Scheme Medical Adviser. By completing and submitting the IHR2 – P1 form, you are asking the Scheme Medical Adviser to consider whether or not you satisfy the medical criteria for an ill health retirement pension in partnership.

You should consult the 'Ill Health Retirement – Guide for Members' for advice about the eligibility conditions, criteria and procedure for applying for ill health retirement benefits from your Civil Service Pension scheme, including more details about the information asked for on the IHR form. The guide also gives information about the assessment timelines and what type of information and supporting documentation the Scheme Medical Adviser will be seeking. A copy of the guide is available to download from the 'Publications' section on the Civil Service Pensions website: www.civilservicepensionscheme.org.uk

In order for the Scheme Medical Adviser to consider your application you will need to fully complete the required information on the IHR2 – P1 form including signatures where requested.

If you have specific queries please contact your employer directly.

Important Notes:

It is unlikely to be in your best interest to refuse to give consent for the Scheme Medical Adviser to approach your GP and/or Specialist for up to date medical information relating to this application. It is also important that you give consent for the Scheme Medical Adviser to send their assessment report to your employer because without a report and certificate:

- your employer cannot offer ill health retirement and can proceed to take other action (e.g. dismissal for inefficiency, if they intended to take such action), having first considered the appropriateness of ill health retirement;
- it will be taken that you have stopped the ill health retirement process;
- you will not be able to appeal against the scheme medical adviser's assessment;
- you will not be able to apply for retrospective ill health retirement.

Please consult the 'Ill Health Retirement – Guide for Members' for more advice about the role of the Scheme Medical Adviser's assessment report in the ill health retirement process and actions you can take if you disagree with the assessment.

Medical Consent Form 2

Consent for the Scheme Medical Adviser to approach your doctor or specialist for further information about your medical condition

Please read this section which gives information about your rights in relation to your medical records under the terms of the Access to Medical Reports Act 1988.

The Scheme Medical Adviser may wish to apply to your doctor or specialist for further medical information. They will need your consent to do this. If you wish to give consent you must confirm this by completing the required fields in the consent box below and then proceed to the next section on this page. You also have the right to refuse consent. If you choose to refuse consent then you can ignore the following information on this page and proceed directly to Medical Consent form 3 that explains what happens to the report that the Scheme Medical Adviser produces after they have completed their assessment.

If you give your consent you have the right to see information about your medical condition before it is supplied to the Scheme Medical Adviser. You will have 21 days from the date of the Scheme Medical Adviser’s letter telling you that a medical report has been requested, in which to ask your doctor, specialist or consultant to let you see their report. If you do not ask to see their report, you will still have a right to see information about your medical condition for up to six months after it has been sent to the SMA.

Medical Consent Form 3

Release of the Scheme Medical Adviser’s medical assessment report

Once the Scheme Medical Adviser has completed their assessment they will produce a report for your employer. The report will confirm whether or not you have a qualifying medical reason for ill health retirement. It will include any information about your health that the Scheme Medical Adviser, in their absolute discretion, regards as being of material relevance to your application.

Your employer cannot offer ill health retirement without a report and certificate from the Scheme Medical Adviser confirming that you have a qualifying medical reason for ill health retirement.

If you consent to the Scheme Medical Adviser sending their report to your employer, including relevant information about your health please put ‘ X ’ in the box and sign and date below to confirm your decision.	<input type="checkbox"/> I consent

You will automatically be sent a copy of the report at the same time as it is sent to your employer, but you can ask not to be sent a copy if you do not want to see it.

You can also ask to see a copy of the report before it is sent to your employer.

If you do not want to see a copy of the report at all please put “ X ” in the box.	NO: <input type="checkbox"/>
If you wish to receive a copy of the report before it is sent to your employer, please put “ X ” in the box.	YES: <input type="checkbox"/>

If there is no “X” in either box above then you will automatically be sent a copy of the report at the same time as it is sent to your employer (if you have consented).

If you ask to see the report before it is released to your employer you will have 5 working days from the date it is issued to you to:

- ask the Scheme Medical Adviser to correct any factual errors in the report;
- withdraw consent for the report to be sent to your employer.

You will only be given one opportunity to ask for factual errors to be corrected.

If you have asked for the report to be amended, the Scheme Medical Adviser can no longer send any report to your employer without your renewed consent to do so. You must therefore, contact them within 5 working days of the date of the corrected report (or the letter telling you that the Scheme Medical Adviser will not make changes to the report) to tell them whether you wish them to release the report to your employer or not. If they do not hear from you within this timescale they will tell your employer that they do not have your consent to release the report and that they are therefore unable to provide any advice.

Important Notes:

It is unlikely to be in your best interests to refuse or withdraw consent for the Scheme Medical Adviser to send their report to your employer, because without a report and certificate:

- it will be taken that you have stopped the ill health retirement process;
- your employer cannot offer ill health retirement and can proceed to take other action (e.g. dismissal for inefficiency, if they intended to take such action), having first considered the appropriateness of ill health retirement;
- you will not be able to appeal against the Scheme Medical Adviser’s assessment.

Notes for the applicant’s doctor or specialist

Ill health retirement should be a last resort. If a member has health problems, in the first instance they should seek the necessary treatment and, if appropriate, occupational health should look at ways to help them to remain in or to return to work, in line with the Equality Act and equivalent legislation in Northern Ireland. This could be through such measures as redeployment, workplace adjustments, flexible working or specialist support. Adjustments must be considered before concluding that ill-health retirement may be appropriate.

It is necessary to demonstrate that the member not only has a medical condition that renders them incapable of doing their normal duties, but also despite appropriate treatment, that the resulting ill health and incapacity is likely to be present until the scheme or State pension age.

When a medical condition is severe enough to warrant ill health retirement, it is generally expected that the applicant will have had the benefit of a specialist opinion during their illness. It is difficult to conclude that an illness will not resolve or improve until all evidence-based treatments for the specific illness have been completed. It is generally helpful in the consideration of an application if medical information is available from the applicant’s treating specialist.

This form provides an opportunity to provide medical detail that may be helpful to the scheme medical adviser in consideration of your patient’s application for ill health retirement benefits.

It is important that the information provided is legible. The applicant can ask their employer for an electronic version of this form if you would prefer this.

Notes for your Occupational Health Provider – if required

Ill health retirement should be a last resort. If a member has health problems, in the first instance they should seek the necessary treatment and, if appropriate, Occupational Health Advisers should look at ways to help them remain in or to return to work, in line with the Equality Act and equivalent legislation in Northern Ireland. This could be through such measures as redeployment, workplace adjustments, flexible working or specialist support. Adjustments must be considered before concluding ill-health retirement may be appropriate.

Before an application is likely to be supported it is necessary to demonstrate that the member not only has a medical condition that renders them incapable of their normal duties, but also despite appropriate treatment the resulting incapacity is likely to be permanent. In other words both the ill health and the incapacity must be likely to be present until normal pension age.

When a medical condition is severe enough to warrant ill health retirement, it is generally expected that the applicant will have had the benefit of a specialist opinion during their illness. It is difficult to conclude that an illness will not resolve or improve until all evidence-based treatments for the specific illness have been completed. It is generally helpful in the consideration of an application if medical information is available from the applicant's treating specialist.

Applications for ill health retirement will be considered on the basis of the medical information submitted with the application. The scheme medical adviser will not necessarily seek further medical evidence in support of an application. The scheme medical adviser will provide an outcome to the application when the evidence base supports that outcome and that the collection of further medical evidence appears unlikely to add substantial new medical detail.

Medical detail is needed on the member's primary diagnosis and any other medical conditions; current clinical signs present, symptoms, diagnosis, investigations performed, treatment administered, response to treatment and the resulting functional capability.

The scheme medical adviser uses this information to assess an application against the scheme definitions with detailed knowledge of how this particular scheme's rules are interpreted.

- ① An expression of opinion on eligibility for ill health retirement is not required since only the scheme medical adviser is authorised to give an opinion of your patient's application for ill health retirement benefits, or likely to fully understand the rules of the scheme.
